Seeking Up to Two New Members to Serve on the National School Psychology Certification Board

The National School Psychology Certification Board (hereafter referred to as the NCSP Board) is looking for up to two new members. Each Board member must be a NASP member in good standing and hold the NCSP. In addition, members should be part of the cadre of reviewers of NCSP portfolios and have done several reviews. Racially and ethnically minoritized candidates are strongly encouraged to apply.

All members who hold the NCSP can apply to become an NCSP reviewer by completing the online process located on the NASP website.

Board Structure: This board consists of a chair, co-chair, secretary, staff director liaison, and a maximum of six additional members. The committee strives for an inclusive committee membership. The NASP Strategic Liaison for Standards, NASP President, and Executive Director serve as ex-officio members of the committee. The NASP Director of Professional Development and Standards serves as the Staff Liaison for this committee.

Board time commitment: The Board meets twice per year typically in late July – early August and again in early January to review applicants. The Board meets for discussion on current issues and then works to complete a final review of each applicant. Time commitment is several days when onsite or equivalent hours online. In addition, convention attendance is encouraged to participate at the NCSP desk to respond to questions. Presentations at the convention have been a part of this time commitment also, though are not required. No stipend is provided for convention attendance.

NCSP Board Member Expectations:
- Provide reviews twice yearly as part of the outside reviewer cadre. In addition, Board members meet twice per year (virtual or in person) to review all applicants for the cycle and provide final determinations of those who have met the standards through the portfolio process. This process focuses on those who must submit a portfolio and case study as part of their NCSP application.
- Actively participate in Board conference calls, as needed
- Participate in the development of resources to support applicants as needed
- Respond to requests from members for information as needed through communities
- Stay abreast of changes in standards and how these apply to the NCSP application process.

Application Requirements: To apply for this position, please submit the following application materials to Dr. Eric Rossen, NASP Director of Professional Development and Standards, at erossen@naspweb.org, and Alisa York, NCSP Board Chair alisa.yorkncsp@gmail.com, by September 1, 2022.
